DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claims 1-10 are objected to because of the following informalities: The claims appear to be a literal translation of the foreign application claims. It is suggested that the claims are modified slightly to conform to standard U.S. patent language, for instance, changing “characterized in that” to “wherein” and deleting the element numbers and references to figs. in the claims. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over U.S.

6948479 to Raney et al

The patent to Raney et al. discloses a noise damper including a resilient hose member (12), which is radially surrounded by housing (32) and with a damping element (28) water-tightly incorporated radially between the housing and the hose member, wherein a form stable, two part enclosure (30) enclosing the damping element is inserted with a positive fit in the housing. The housing is not disclosed as being separable, however it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to , since it has been held that constructing a formerly integral structure in various elements involves only routine skill in the art.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 2-10 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The patents to Carboni, Bourne, Beach, Byrd et al, Borden, Peters, and Kobayashi et al. are all pertinent to Applicant's invention in disclosing dampening devices.
